Masturbation--UTI Symptoms..Is this Urethritis...Please help?

26 year old Male, No sexual Partners.

Last week I was masturbating(I masturbate 3 to 4 times a week, stopped after this event) and at the end of climax (a little over 40 min) I felt stinging pain in my lower * area. I stopped without ejaculation because of the pain, but pain continued on the day. On the same day I walked for 2hrs as an exercise, is this a cause for the pain.

Doesn't really pain constantly but the stinging comes off and on. After 3 days the pain subsided significantly, now I get stings maybe 5 to 6 times a day.
As on this post current day is 6.

In addition to this I have light testicular pain on my left testicle since day 3.
The testicular pain is very mild and seems to have no pain until I touch the testicle, or think about the pain. No swelling or soreness associated with the pain. No discharge from * or rashes, no lumps on testicles.

The thought of the sting or the occurrence of the sting is making me go crazy. I stopped drinking lots of water(Only drink 3 cups of water daily after eating) and don't eat much, because the occurrence of sting is more likely after I urinate but not compulsory after every urination. I think I am physically and psychologically affected because of this event, and I am thinking I have to live with this pain for ever.

Some body on the forum please help...? I am afraid of seeing a doctor, Please help///...Is this Urethritis or any chronic injury as a result of Masturbation.. If the injury is because of Masturbation Do I need any surgery ..I am very scared Please help....

do you have any other symptoms for you to think its a UTI? Smelly urine, cloudy urine, lower back pain, temp etc?

I would suggest you go and see your doctor though any problems especially any to do with man hood should be checked by a doc x dont be nervous about it they have seen more than many people

Thanks for the Reply. My back pains a little, No smell of the urine. The stings subsided in number and the power of the sting is also very less as of today.

Testicular pain is still continuing, I have decided to go see a Doc.

I went to see the Doctor. I was taken for UltraSound and Urine Test. Nothing serious from the tests, except a sign of Epid irritation, Doc gave me Antibiotics and pain killers to subside the pain.

I had similar symptoms that you have. I went to the doctor, and they really didn't see anything in my urine sample, so they sent it to the lab -- this wednesday I'm going back for a followup to see if they found anything in the urine sample. Hopefully I feel better soon. A symptom I had that happened perhaps a day before was a problem getting an erection.. Never ever has happened before.. and I can only think it has something to do with the bit of pain I've got now like you're describing.

testiculitis?

I had something similar a year ago, i was doing a physical job and held in my urine for way too long, and this caused the urine (not to my knowledge) to back-up into the testicles and cause a minor infection.

I went to Dr, slightly embarrassed 😊 with 1 tender enlarged ball, and he gave me antibiotics, problem was solved within a week.

I found wearing a "box" or "athletic support" more comfortable.
(I'm male 30's heterosexual) if that makes a difference?
